Let Us All Work Together.

We have a job that can be done only if we all work together. As Daniel Webster once said, Liberty Exists in Proportion to Wholesome Restraint. . . and now we have an opportunity to prove the truth of this statement.

- We must plan our daily lives with economy of time, energy, and expenditure.
- We must buy only the things we need — and select only those that best serve our need.
- It means learning all we can about the value of merchandise — where to buy to best advantage — how to make things last as long as possible by good care.

New Service Is Added By Weather Man

New York, June 16.—(AP)—Every morning along about 7 o'clock the city desk of the Associated Press telephones the weather bureau for the day's local forecast.

"How does it look today, old boy?" is the unvarying query. "Well, let's see — warmer (or colder) with gentle winds (or strong winds) this morning, and cooler (or something else) early this afternoon."

But today the newsmen's ear seemed to be going back on him as he heard the routine words, and then:

"Your tires wear out twice as fast in this weather as in the winter. Drive slowly and carefully."

"What the devil are you talking about?" asked the reporter. "Oh, just something a little extra we're throwing in from now on," was the reply. "If we guess wrong on the weather, we'll at least be helping to save rubber."

P. S.: The 8:15 a. m. weather forecast ended: "Save rubber. Replacements can not be made without detriment to the war effort."

The weather bureau said that such advice would be given regularly in the hope the newspapers would print it with the weather forecast.

School Music Booster Plan Series of Monthly Concerts

Officers of the School Music Boosters' Club are announcing today tentative plans for a project which has been in formation for some months, a series of monthly concerts by band, orchestra and chorus groups on the lawn of Beatty school.

Meeting as a committee last evening, Don E. Follman, Dr. James A. Davidson, Clement Wolstencroft and Harry A. Summers, drew up preliminary plans for the series.

The first concert is set for June 29, with rehearsal of massed bands scheduled at 7 p. m. Thursday night of this week at Beatty school. Mr. Summers will direct and has extended an invitation to personnel of the National Forge, Struthers-Wellis Navy, and Veterans of Foreign Wars bands to join with the High School Dragons. In addition, any band men not associated with organized groups but interested in participating may turn out and join in the fun. All are asked to bring their own music racks.

On the orchestral schedule, the first concert will be July 12, with rehearsals at 7 p. m. June 22 at Beatty school. Any competent symphony players are invited and all those with orchestral experience are urged to cooperate in this venture. Mr. Summers will direct this phase of the activity, also, and asks players to bring their own racks.

The plan, as devised, calls for two concerts a month, one to be by the band, the second by the symphony and massed choirs directed by Mr. Wolstencroft. In this connection, it is stated that the plan has been fully approved by the Warren County Ministerial Association and that various pastors will assist with the programs. Choir rehearsals and program details will be announced later but it is understood that the first orchestral program will be interspersed with good old fashioned group singing of familiar hymns.

The Boosters' Club will handle erection of bleachers on the school lawn and has promised adequate seating facilities. Programs will be free to the public, with only a silver offering to help defray incidental expenses and the club and directors ask for the wholehearted cooperation of everyone in Warren and vicinity in making this successful.

England, together with North Ireland, Scotland, and Wales, has a varied shoreline of more than 3000 miles to guard.

NOTICE is hereby given that application has been made to the Public Utility Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania under the provisions of the Public Utility Law, by James Rufus Copeland of West Hickory, Forest County, Pennsylvania, for a certificate of public convenience evidencing the Commission's approval of the beginning of the exercise of the right and privilege of operating motor vehicles as a common carrier for the transportation of persons employed at the plant of the West Hickory Tanning Company from the Borough of Tidouite, Warren County, to the plant of said company in the village of West Hickory, Forest County, Pa. (P. U. C. No. A-5311 F-2) on the following route: Beginning at the Borough of Tidouite; thence across the bridge via Highway Route 227 to Highway Route 62; thence via Highway Route 62 to the bridge at West Hickory; thence crossing the bridge on Highway Route 127; thence via Highway Route 127 to the said company's plant in West Hickory; excluding the right to render any local service between points on said route.

A public hearing upon this application will be held at the Court House in Warren, Warren County, Pennsylvania on the 9th day of July, 1942 at 10 o'clock A. M., when and where all persons in interest may appear to be heard, if they so desire.

Plan Warren Day Program Next Sunday

All arrangements have been completed for the 11th annual Warren Day at Celoron Park and the park management is going to cooperate in making it the most elaborate Warren Day up to now, it was announced today.

Many surprises will be ready for Warren residents next Sunday. Among the outstanding events will be a sensational free act, "The Deteros Sensation," two girls and a man doing all sorts of dare-devilry high up in the air. This big free act will be presented twice on Warren Day.

And for those who want something not quite so thrilling, there is "Maxine," six years starred with Phil Spitalny's "Hour of Charm." Her rich contralto voice is very thrilling. Maxine will head the big floor show arranged for Warren Day.

Many changes have been made at Celoron Park—new pastimes, a new fleet of "drive yourself boats," archery, rides, etc. A new picnic kitchen and new shelters to accommodate any and all who wish to picnic in the cool spacious grove are available. Reservations will be made for parties.

The Times-Mirror, as usual, offers a cut-rate price amusement coupon. This coupon and 50 cents (plus war tax) entitles the holder to $1.00 worth of ride and amusement tickets. Clip yours now and enjoy the fun.

This is going to be a real day of fun, so forget your cares for a day and follow the crowd to Celoron Park as a guest of the Times-Mirror for a real good old-fashioned day of relaxation.

A matinee dance and show in the Pier is also a Warren Day feature. Make your arrangements now to pack the old picnic basket and hie to Celoron Park.

Two Large Markets Join Group Closing Wed. Afternoon

Warren's two largest food stores, the Loblaw Groceteria and the A. & P. Super Market, have both announced their intention of joining the majority of Warren merchants in the summer policy of closing at one p. m. on Wednesdays instead of their usual closing hour. They will initiate this new policy tomorrow.

The third Wednesday of the new plan bids fair to bring Warren merchants into greater solidarity, since more stores are expected to participate this week than on any of the two previous weeks. It is hoped that ultimately practically every retail establishment in the community will close its doors on Wednesday at 1 p. m. during the rest of June, July and August.

TELLS HOW TO OBTAIN GOOD STAND OF PLANTS

A poor stand of vegetable plants is too frequently blamed on poor seed when the fault often is due to one or several other conditions, reminds County Agent O. C. Trutt. Most vegetable seeds are small and should be covered lightly with soil. This means that the soil or seedbed should be carefully prepared so that the soil particles are very fine. After seeding, the soil should be lightly firmed or pressed against the seed to insure good contact of soil and seed. If the soil is too moist, it will crust.

Lettuce, endive, carrot, beet, spinach, onion, radish, and similar small seeds are sufficiently covered with one-fourth inch in heavy soil and one-half inch in sandy soil.

Corn or beans require 1 inch of covering and peas 1 to 2 inches. An old rule is, "Cover the seed 4 to 5 times its diameter."

THE LORD MADE THE WORLD FIREPROOF
(From an article by Wilfred Funk in Your Life Magazine)

Sometimes when I feel, in these dark days, that our civilization is at last coming to its tragic end, I recall how my father long ago used to comfort me in the troubled times of my childhood: "Don't worry too much, son," he would say. "When the Lord gave men matches to play with, he first made the world fireproof!"

The world is coming to an end, says the pessimist. These are the worst of all possible times. Yet, if we rattle back through the pages of history, we find that every age was considered the worst of all possible ages.

Times apparently have always been hard and difficult and dangerous in this world of ours. Are you worried, for instance, about the staggering load of taxes you are carrying? An ancient clay tablet in the British Museum records the story of a man, more than forty centuries ago, who tried in desperation to chisel his income tax!

Does the threat of inflation bother you? Of course it does. But it's nothing new. They had inflation as long ago as 415 B. C. in old Greece, at the time of the war between Athens and Corinth. The Athenians hoarded their sound, solid silver "owls" and hid them away in pots in the walls—that's why our numismatists have been able to gather such magnificent collection of Greek coins. In Egypt, in the inflation of 333 A. D., money was so debased that a $500 home finally required a mortgage of $1,000,000 for security, and wheat cost $2,500 a bushel. We, here in America, in our early pioneer days even had an inflation in Indian wampum! But, with all this, the world didn't come to an end.

Listen to this: "It is a gloomy moment of history. Never has there been so much grave and deep apprehension. The resources of the British Empire are sorely tried, and are yet to be tried more sorely, and of our own troubles no man can see the end." That sounds familiar, doesn't it? But it isn't from a recent newspaper—it's quoted from an editorial written in 1887!

You see—civilization is always coming to an end, yet it never does.

SLOGANS WILL WIN

Food will win the war. Songs will win the war. Airpower will win the war. Slogans will win the war. Well, why not? None of these alone, but all together. We do need pepping up. "Over There" and "Tipperary" helped a lot in 1918. So did "Let's make the world safe for democracy."

No topnotch song has come yet in this war, but many good enough slogans are popping up. Contests in some 300 plants produced a few quotable industrial adjurations such, for example, as American Steel and Wire's "Speed the wheels to beat the heels"; or Western Electric's "T. N. T.—Today, not tomorrow." "Speed 'em for freedom," advised Curtiss-Wright.

Next, can somebody coin an overall catchphrase that will have the punch of World War I's "The Yanks are coming"? Or how about just keeping the same one?

NEW KIND OF FREEDOM

Officers of the Warren Business and Professional Women's Club are to be congratulated on a "happy birthday" party held last evening at the Y. W. C. A., marking its fourth anniversary. It featured a policy of no speeches or addresses, the program being arranged to provide an evening of merriment for local and out of town guests. The nearest approach to a speech was a compliment paid the organization by District Chairman Helen Schlaufl, of Erie, who said the Warren club has established a record it may well be proud of.

GET BEHIND THE SCRAP RUBBER DRIVE

All gasoline stations in the state are urged to cooperate in the current two-week drive for scrap rubber even if they lack official word from companies to do so. W. Purvis Taylor, secretary of the Associated Petroleum Industries of Pennsylvania, says some oil and gasoline companies have not had time to assure dealers of repayment of monies spent buying scrap rubber at one cent a pound.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — The old feed-box is running dry. The war in this administration and others when the White House was the biggest and best of all the major news sources.

Since the war started for the U.S.A., it has become increasingly less important a source of information that makes daily headlines. A speech, statement or opinion from the President still is page one news but run back through your newspaper files for the last six months or so and see how few of those there are compared to the White House stories that were tops through the years before that time.

THE President's press conferences these days are so "dull" that many of the few correspondents still privileged to attend will frequently pass them up for something "more important." (I know of two correspondents who skipped a White House press conference recently to get the WPB order on diaper laundry delivery service—and smart they were, too. The WPB made Page-1 that day. The White House conference didn't.)

There are reasons behind this and they do no discredit to the President of the United States.

President Roosevelt is the first in history who has continued to hold press conferences in war time. World War I hadn't put one new gun into the hands of the first war recruit before President Wilson cancelled his press conferences "for the duration." And he kept them cancelled.

THE reasons behind the decline of the White House as a major news source are simply that (1) few times in history has a

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — The subject of today's essay, friends, concerns a Moroccan named Ahmed Mohamed Rifi. He is a 45-year-old old meat cook at a Manhattan hotel. Citizen Rifi is a colorful character. For he is a relative of the late Abdul Krim, the Rif war chieftain who retired to the Rif hills some years ago and defied the whole might of Catholic Spain. For his pains Friend Rifi was shot twice, but managed to emerge from his experiences with a few scars and an exuberant longing for the peace and tranquility of the United States.

SO TODAY he is a cold meat man in a Manhattan hotel. He makes $25 a week. So appreciative is Rifi of his newly found security that he has worked out a private little War Bond arrangement with his employer's bookkeeper that goes like this. Every week for four weeks he has $18.75 held out of his $25 a week salary. On the fifth week he receives the whole $25. Then he starts all over again, buying $18.75 worth of stamps out of his $25 a week salary.

How does he manage? Rifi explains it this way: "Well, I'm a bachelor, so I haven't got a wife and kids to worry about. Then I have a room in 9th avenue. I share this room with a friend of mine, and in this way it costs us only a couple of bucks a piece. Outside of that, I don't have anything to spend money for. I don't have time to go to the movies. I get my meals at the hotel. So I got plenty reason to buy a few stamps. I've

HIGHLIGHTS

FIELDING GEM—Monk Murphy's meaty catch of Bill Martin's line drive to retire the Eagles in the last half of the fourth inning.

BEST HIT—Tony Notoro's single in the sixth which knocked in two runs and gave the Eagles new life after trailing 5-0, even overshadowed Harold Brown's home run earlier in the game. The hit accounted for a couple of markers for the Eagles.

SPORTS SPATTERINGS

The Forge, only team in the Sunset League up to yesterday with two games recorded, shows a team batting average of .294, which is really pulverizing the pellet, but a second glance at their record shows there is still lots of room for improvement, and also the fact that they've had been earned, and the Forge clouters have left 19 men on bases in the two contests. They've had a total of 20 hits, but only three have been better than singles. Red Hajnik contributed a home run and Mike Solock and Bill Caffery have doubled once each. Of the 14 runs they've scored, 10 have been batted in, which is a good percentage. But the brightest spot in the Forge record book currently is in fielding. They've handled 57 chances without an error. They play off that tie game between Stoneham and the Eagles tonight, and if this evening's contest supplies half the entertainment the loop opener offered, the anticipated large turnout should be well pleased from all angles. There's a lot of work ahead of Manager Ray Bennett in building his Stoneham aggregation, but this corner feels he's fully capable of teaching these youngsters a lot of baseball before the summer comes to an end. Fans couldn't understand why Bob Johnson, who was having a terrible night against the Forge around second base last Friday, wasn't retired to the bench earlier and Dick Johnson sent in to play shortstop, with Arnie Edmiston moving over to second, the change made in the sixth inning. But Manager Bennett must have had a reason, and he's the foreman.

Forrest Evashevski, the former Michigan steam-roller on the gridiron who cleared the way for Tommy Harmon's fancy runs and who became head backfield coach at Pitt during the past season, has been appointed an ensign in the naval reserve, according to official word from the navy procurement office over the weekend. And a Pitt official said it was likely the university would appoint no successor, as the post is to "keep the jobs open until the service men return." Two charities—the Army Emergency Relief and the Herald-Tribune Fresh Air Fund—will share the proceeds of the September 12 football game in New York's Polo Grounds in which the New York Giants of the National Pro League will oppose the best of the U. S. Army has to offer. Final arrangements and agreements were made over the past weekend. Jack Dempsey was sworn in last Saturday in New York as a lieutenant, senior grade, in the U. S. Coast Guard. Dempsey will be placed in charge of the coast guard's physical training program at its Manhattan Beach station on Long Island. They're enjoying a real season on the West Side diamond in the City Softball League, and more fans are watching this sport this year than in any of the past five. Perhaps the game is really making headway in its comeback effort. This agent sincerely hopes so. Youngsters climbing over the fence during the day to play on Russell Field are subject to arrest for trespassing, and this, we hope, will serve as sufficient warning to stay out of the park unless permission is gained from the proper officials. Strict enforcement of regulations prohibiting this procedure is to be made.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The Navy Scout Observation Plane is comparable to the Reconnaissance plane in the Army. These planes scout enemy territory and communicate by radio to the firing vessels information as to the accuracy of their aim. They cost about $41,000.

The Navy Scout Observation planes are essential to naval success on the two oceans and are based on the vessels whose fire they direct. They were vital factors in the naval victories at Marshall Islands and in the Coral Sea. Help pay for them by buying War Bonds. A given community, even a small one, could buy one of these planes in a short time by investing ten percent of income in War Bonds every pay day.

Equador Star New Clown of Tennis Court

St. Louis, June 16.—(P)—Francisco (Pancho) Segura, budding diplomat from Equador, is taking over Frank Kovacs' role of tennis clown at the National Clay Courts Tournament.

The South American cutup is a colorful player. He swings a heavy 14-ounce racquet, using both hands, and his slugging drives are more like baseball smashes than tennis strokes.

"Sure they say we're clowns," Segura shrugged, when a spectator compared him with Kovacs, "but can I help it?"

Segura, a freshman in the University of Miami, has been in the United States two years, but his academic career has taken a beating while he devotes his energies to tennis.

After he finishes his business course he plans to return to Equador unless the war prevents. Twenty-one years old, he is due for military service unless his chosen career as a diplomat is started before he is called up.

Winner of the Equadorian championship, the Chilean title in 1940, and the South American title in 1939, he wants the clay courts title to take home.

"I'd be a hero. Equador likes heroes. But if you lose, you're a bum."

FIELD GROWS FOR WARREN COUNTY OPEN

With the field for the seventh annual Warren County Open Golf Championship tournament steadily growing, forecasters of the event began looking today for the biggest affair in the history of the county.

Nearly 30 golfers already have entered and the committee in charge of preparations announced today that entry fees will be received until ten o'clock Sunday morning. The first golfers will tee off at nine o'clock over the beautiful and tricky Maplehurst Golf Club course.

Nine holes, the course is a hard one for newcomers and a good test every time for those veterans who play it regularly. It has a par 35 with No. 2 hole, 580 yards long, and with a par five, the hardest part of the entire course. It's an uphill drive and approach, giving the hard, long and straight hitters a break against their foes if they can control their shots.

Among the latest entries to the list of hopefuls are George Wells, ex-caddy at the Conewago Valley Country Club, Pete Rosequist and Buck Samuelson.

The prize list also announced today that the following local merchants will offer prizes in the tournament: Murphy's 5c and 10c store; Ever's Hardware; Brown's Boot Shop; Style Shop; Bob Ritchie's B. and B. Smoke Shop; Montgomery Ward, Printz Company; Miller Drug store; Penn Bowling Center; Kresge's 5c and 10c store. A few other establishments may be added to the list before the end of the week for additional awards for the golfers participating in the open.

Any golfers not having as yet entered and interested in so doing may call Bob Johnson, 3099, or enter at Maplehurst Golf Club.

Racing at Suffolk Downs is Suspended

Boston, June 16.—(P)—Racing at Suffolk Downs was suspended today when a deadlock between the Eastern Racing Association and more than 200 owners of thoroughbreds stood at the 32nd program of its 60-day meeting.

The suspension, the second in the 10-years' history of New England pari-mutuel racing, followed when the striking horsemen's demands for an increase in minimum purses from $1,000 to $1,200 were rejected by President Charles F. Adams of the association.

Adams also refused to consider a proposal to spread over the other races any extra money that might accrue when a minimum claiming event is substituted for one calling for a larger purse.

Passeau Blanks Bums, Is First Pitcher To Win 10 This Campaign

BY SID FEDER

One of those slants tossed by Hugh Casey two years ago got Claude so steamed up he's been taking it out on the Dodgers ever since, and getting a lot of laughs out of it.

Claude was so peeved that afternoon of July 19, 1940 at Wrigley Field that he started to take on the whole Brooklyn ball club, bareknuckles. He was punched around somewhat by Joe Gallagher, then a Dodger but now a soldier. These antics shocked National League Prexy Frank Frick so that he pinned a $75 fine on the Chicago Cubs' ace elbow.

Ever since then, the man from Milledale—that's no reflection, it's just Claude's college—has been taking that "six bits out a la Shockey" in the course of two years, he's knocked off Brooklyn seven times and lost only two games.

Right now, he's pretty warm for June—or any other month. He hasn't been beaten since May 5. So last evening, Manager Jimmy Wilson, his old pal and co-refugee from the Phillies, asked him to go out there against the Browns in a twilight game, the first big league game ever to start in daylight and end under the arcs.

What he did to the league leaders made the relationship seem even closer than that. He served up a five-hitter and he didn't let a Dodger get past second. In fact, only two got as far as that. And with the help of some fair country clouting by Lou Novikoff, Bill Nicholson and James (Double-X) Fox, he waltzed home with a 6-0 decision.

It was his eighth straight victory and made him the first big league twirler to hit the ten-game winner bullseye this year.

The triumph moved the Cubs back into fifth place and dropped the Pittsburgh Pirates into sixth; because the Bucs lost the only other game on the big league schedule yesterday. This was a 6-2 setback pinned on them by the New York Giants.

MOST DANGEROUS SNAKE

World's most dangerous serpent is the king cobra. Its home is in India, but Africa is represented by several distinct species of cobras in all parts of the continent.

In the first three weeks of January, contracts cleared by the War Production Board and OPM totaled $7,883,000,000. Total for the week ending January 21 was almost three billions.

UNFAIR TO LOVE

Chapter 30

Disaster

Laura Pennell found a cigarette and lit it. "I hope the foolish boy hasn't been holding out hopes and dreams to you, Miss Vaughan."

"Oh, no," Kathleen lied. "Of course not. He's been very kind to me, but that's all."

"You know perfectly well you're not telling the truth," Laura Pennell said. "But never mind. Only remember this: I'm sticking around from now on, so—well, I'm sure you know what I'm driving at."

Kathleen struggled for a show of dignity.

"It's terribly sweet of you to have this little visit with me, Mrs. Pennell," she said. "But I must be running along now. Someone is waiting for me."

"If it's Paul," said Mrs. Pennell, "please tell him mama's also waiting."

Kathleen made her escape, for her departure was just what she needed. She hurried around the corner of the barn, feeling like a very small child who had been caught sampling the jam jar.

She saw her uncle and hurried over to him.

"Hello, Kathleen!" he said. "Congratulations!"

"Thanks," said Kathleen. "I'm tired, Uncle Frank. Would you take me home now?"

"But, Ducky—I mean, Kathleen—it's early. I planned to stick around some, and visit. Besides, if you don't mind, I'd like to take Ruby for a late ride."

"You mean you refuse to take me home?"

"Certainly not. I tell you, let Joe take you. He's around here some place."

"Thanks very much," said Kathleen. "I can take one of those taxis standing out there. Good night."

"Bov, she certainly has got her dander up!" Uncle Frank said, as he watched Kathleen streak across the open space to where cars and taxis had been parked. "Wonder what could have happened to her."

"I think I know," said Ruby. "Paul's wife appeared upon the scene."

"His wife?" said Uncle Frank, astonished.

Uppercut

"YES," answered Ruby. "I suppose I should have told you Paul was married, but I kept putting it off. I saw her talking with Kathleen a moment ago. She probably scared the poor girl half out of her wits."

"I hope she did," said Uncle Frank. "Maybe it'll teach the girl a lesson."

Joe joined them. "Still want me to take Kathleen home for you, Mr. Frank?" he asked.

It was a cruel thing to say, but Uncle Frank was annoyed. "If you speed up you may catch her before she goes to bed."

"Did you say Paul Pennell's wife?" inquired Joe—unbelieving.

"He did," said Ruby. "Paul's been married for years—but he has his moments with other girls."

"Oh, he does, does he?" Joe fared. "Well, if he thinks he can fool around with my girl, he's got another think coming to him."

"Where are you going?" Ruby and Uncle Frank called, as Joe started toward the barn there. "I'm going to black a certain actor's eyes," said Joe.

"Pardon me," he said, when he saw a woman sitting beside Paul, as he removed his stage makeup. "Pardon me, but I've got a job to do."

Paul was sitting. "Stand up!" he ordered.

"Why, you—?" stammered Paul, but he got to his feet.

He didn't remain upon them long, however. Joe's fist shot out. It caught Paul upon the chin. He went down like a log. The woman with him screamed.

Joe brushed his hands, pushed an overturned chair out of his way, and marched out without a word. Two minutes later he was in his car, racing after the taxicab in which Kathleen was riding.

Temper

ALTHOUGH Joe ignored all speed limits in an effort to catch up with Kathleen before she reached town, Joe failed to do so.

As a result he arrived in front of the Vaughan house just as Kathleen was unlocking the door. He brought the car to a grinding stop, leaped out, and ran up the walk.

"Just a minute, Kathleen!" he called.

Kathleen turned to face him. She looked remote and cold—like someone eying him from a very great distance.

"What did you come here for?" Kathleen demanded.

"Just to be with you, that's all," Joe said tenderly.

"How perfectly sweet," Kathleen walked to the edge of the porch. "You'll have a wonderful time panning me, won't you, when you do your review?"

"I shall probably say something very nice," said Joe. "However, as a general thing, I agree with the two scouts who were sent down to see the play. They thought the play smelled, and they didn't mean the barn, either. But they were very kind to you."

"Really?" Again Kathleen could not conceal what she felt. "I suppose you disillusioned them instantly."

"However, it wasn't your fault that the scene with Paul went sour," Joe continued. "If Pennell forgot his lines, and—"

"No wonder he forgot them," said Kathleen. "When he looked down and saw his—"

"His wife?" said Joe. "Oh, then you know?"

"Yes. Probably everyone else does by now."

Kathleen narrowed her eyes, and looked at Joe closely. "I've a pretty strong feeling," she said, "that you had something to do with Mrs. Pennell being there. No doubt you planted her in the third row orchestra, just to spoil everything, just to prove you were right in thinking I was no actress."

"Don't talk like a little idiot," said Joe. "I didn't even know Pennell had a wife, so how could I plant her anywhere?" He didn't wait for Kathleen to reply. "However, when I did find out there was a Mrs. Pennell, I went back and visited Mr. Pennell. As a result, I'm afraid you'll have to handle him very tenderly when you play your love scene with him tomorrow night."

"What are you talking about?" said Kathleen uneasily.

"I gave pretty Paul an uppercut to the chin," said Joe. "And there's probably a cut on his cheek, since he hit a broken cold-cream jar when he fell."

"Kathleen's eyes flashed. "Joe! I won't listen to another word!" fared Kathleen, on the verge of tears. "And don't you ever come near me again!"

She ran across the porch, flung open the front door, and disappeared inside. She locked it behind her, and fled up to her room. There she dropped down upon the bed, and sobbed. Only faintly did she hear Joe's car when he drove away.

Edna May Gary and C. Lawrence Johnson Wed in St. Paul's

At 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening, St. Paul's Lutheran church was the scene of a pretty summer wedding ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Edna May Gary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gary, and C. Lawrence Johnson, son of Mrs. Charles Johnson, of Jamestown, N. Y. Rev. Bertil Edquist performed the double ring ceremony in front of the altar, which was banked with gladioli and palms. Wedding music was by Mrs. Emil Jacobson.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was dressed in moiré-velvet, with fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline. Her fingertip veil was held in place with orange blossoms and her arm bouquet was of white roses. Her only jewelry was a gold cross. Only the bridegroom.

The bridesmaid, Miss Mary Lind, wore pink silk chiffon with lace inserts and carried an arm bouquet of pink and yellow snapdragons. The bride's mother wore a shoulder corsage of yellow sweet peas and her grandmother, Mrs. Ellen Gary, wore pink sweet peas. Mrs. Carl Johnson, aunt of the bridegroom, had yellow snapdragons.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will be at home in their newly furnished apartment on Mohawk avenue. The bride, a graduate of the local high school, is employed at the Times Square Service Station and Mr. Johnson is employed by the Warren Baking Company.

BEWARE OF SUNBURN

BY PAUL BRAUNSCHWEIGER
of the Mullen Drug Co.

Those first days at the beach, the splendid joy of being released from winter chill. They tempt us to undue and prolonged exposure to the brilliant heart-warming sunshine.

Severe sunburn can be an agony as acute and harmful as a burn by fire. Avoid extreme exposure, take life in the open by degrees until you are acclimated to the searching rays of light.

When sunburn occurs, either through unavoidable circumstances or by your own pleasure in unaccustomed freedom, consult your doctor for remedial measures.

Supplement his skill by that of a trained druggist. All prescriptions should be filled by an experienced man.

Mainbocher's Latest

The "Happy Birthday" party held last evening in the Y. W. C. A. banquet hall by the Warren Business and Professional Women's Club was attended by about 70 local members, guests and visitors from other clubs of the district.

Dispensing with the customary toastmaster, speeches and formal addresses, the local executive and program committees had arranged a delightful floor show to follow the banquet. Serving as small tables placed about the room cabaret style and centered with pink candles and white bowls of mountain laurel. Programs and song sheets were tied with grosgrain ribbons to match ruffled hats found at the guests' places.

Having recited their collect before seated, members later joined in group singing, with Ruth Kerr leading and Mrs. Harriet Wilkins at the piano. After a brief greeting by the newly re-elected president, Callie Mead, the entertainment was turned over to Katherine Dawn Williams and her young pupils.

A patriotic air was induced in the next number, with little DeAnne Dunn singing "Remember Pearl Harbor." To conclude, all the young people returned for a grand finale which included a surprise "Happy Birthday" song for the club and to lead the entire group in singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

Spring Recital At Conservatory Well Received by Group

In spite of manifold counter attractions, the Conservatory auditorium was well filled Saturday evening with an audience that gave unmistakable proof to thoroughly enjoying the program arranged for the annual spring concert.

With three instrumental solos--Harold Knappenberg, trumpet; Vernon Jones, piano; and James Shortt, violin, assisted by Meredith Young at the piano--a happy balance was established and the work of the soloists met with enthusiastic approval.

Considering the fact that the vocal part of the program was given by students with two years and less study under Eugene Kuester, their work in operatic selections from Carmen and La Bohème showed a surprisingly professional perfection in style and vocal technique which enabled everyone to do full justice to his solos. The audience was quick to recognize this fact and gave the singers, Bonny Johnson, Ruth Satterlund, Mary Ann Lundmark, LeRoy Swanson, Martha Hultberg and Constance Dey, prolonged applause.

Probably the most enjoyable part of the program were excerpts from Bach's Jolly Peasant cantata with incidental solos by Virginia Rae Irwin, Gloria Hausman and Spencer Swanson. The large chorus for women's voices accompanying the soprano solos sung by Margaret Drivas was especially noteworthy.

Edith Haines Kuester deserves special praise for her two-piano arrangements of the overture and several of the choruses which, played by Mrs. Kuester and Adelaide Swanson, added greatly to the effectiveness of the presentation.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, Times-Mirror
Dear Sir:

A song sparrow built a nest in a hedge out at our place. It was a silly place to build a nest but then you can't argue with a song sparrow, much as you may love it. So we built a high wall of wire netting on each side of the hedge. Everything went fine until the young birds began to peep. Then one dark night a lovely old pet pussy cat climbed up on that hedge and wallowed along deep in the foliage for over three feet to vipe out those five little birds. Now what can one do in a case like that? Have your readers any ideas on the subject?

Sorrowfully yours,
Bird Lover.
